DAVIS THEATRE.

The "Eternal City" Eight Part Feature Here Monday, Tuesday and Wedneeday, with an Enlarged Orchestra of 12 Pieces.

For the first three days of this week For the first three days of this week the management of the Davis will offer as the attraction at this popular the-atre Daniel Frohman's production of The Eternal City, Hall Caine's great novel and play screened by the Fa-mous Players Film Co, with remark-able vividness.

First the novel and then the play

First the novel and then the play made from it attracted general atten-tion years ago. It remained for the camera to emphasize the impression made by the story, hich has Rome as its dramatic background. The fact its dramatic background. The fact that real scenes of Rome are revealed in this spectacle is most important. Glimpses of London—for example, the Thames with a view of the houses of parliament—add to the scope of this picture-play. But it is Rome that is really great in the photographic sense. Across its most notable plaza moves a countless throng, and then there is the Colliseum ith the socialistic hero, David Rossi, addressing the multitude. This is stirring, especially when the soldiers fire upon the people and panic results. By way of contrast there is the peaceful scene in the Vatican gardens, where Pius XI gives the peaceful Rossian and Pour Roma spiritual counine, Donna Roma, spiritual counshe is led to betray David, the villainous Baron Bonelli, is orked out realistically until the love story reaches its happy ending. Graphic is the only word for the acting of Pauline Frederick as Donna Roma. In every phase of the romantic character she is both charming and gripping. This is, by all odds, the finest work Miss Frederick has done. She proves herself, with her beauty and her plastic quality, to be a motion picture actress of exceptional appeal. Equally effective in his own way, is Thomas Holding as David, first and last of all because his face has the light of the idealist. An impressive picture of the Pope is achieved by Fuller Mellish. Hall Caine's various characters naturally lend themselves to pictorial treatment, and the work of the actors generally is so good that it puts the production on a high plane. Altogether The Eternal City is a stir-fascinating visualization of a ly romantic story.

Mutual War Weekly and a real funny comedy will also be shown and a specially enlarged orchestra of 12 musicians will furnish the music for this wonderful production. The ic alone would be worth the price of admission and there will be the usual three shows daily, at 2.30, 7 and 8.45, with no advance in prices, Note—This same picture was shown at the Astor theatre, New York, at the Market of the State o

COLONIAL THEATRE. "The Fight," Same Author as "Within

the Law"-Five Reel Feature. One of the greatest successes of the Hudson theatre in New York for several seasons was The Fight, a drama dealing with a struggle of a woman against corruption of a city of which she wants to be mayor. Margaret Wycherly, famous the world over, plays the part of Jane Thomas, has perfected her art. and vice merchants of the city. So they sought to compromise her in public esteem by invelgling her to a road-no mannerisms to mar her work, she lic esteem by inveigling her to a roadhouse, of questionable character, and surreptitiously photographing her in the company of a man. The scheme falled, because a girl protege of her's warned Jane and took her place. Then they tried to ruin Jane's bank by a manufactured run upon it, and falled again. Finally, Vance, a dance hall keeper, when Jane called upon him to release a girl who had been decoyed into his den of infamy, locked her in a room, and threatened her life. But she was rescued and Vance was killed.
Jane was elected mayor, and she gave her hand and heart to the man, a doctor, who had been faithful to her in her "fight." Margaret Wycherly in All three of the distinguished artists Jane was elected mayor, and she gave her hand and heart to the man, a doctor, who had been faithful to her in her "fight." Margaret Wycherly in the character of Jane, has a fine acting part; and John Kellerd, as Vance, the dance hall keeper, is villainous indeed. A very valuable dog plays an important part in the production. The Fight is a full and varied offering, narrative as well as dramatic; sympathy is with Jane all through in her pathy is with Jane all through in her heavy handicap. And it is quite defi-cient in any episodes of an objectionable character; again the incidents are feasible, so feasible that you can look upon the photoplay as, on the whole, true to life. Don't miss this feature today.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Three fine vaudeville acts, headed by The Grodno troupe of five Russian dancers, one of the best vaudeville attractions ever seen in this city; Hill and Hill, a young fellow and girl doing a lively ragtime singing and piano specialty, and Caprice Lewis, a dainty trapeze artist of more than ordinary specialty, and Caprice Lewis, a dainty trapeze artist of more than ordinary ability, will make up an excellent show for those who enjoy real good vaudeville, and for the picture fans on Monday and Tuesday a corking five reel Paramount feature has been secured, featuring the little idol, Mary Pickford, in the leading role, and Lottie and Jack Pickford, sister and brother of Little Mary, in the all star cast. The photoplay is taken from George Sand's famous drama, Fanchon the Cricket, and as Fanchon Little Mary portrays the famed role of the lone of the villagers who persecute until she maches the greatest heights that weeners and brother of the villagers who persecute until she maches the greatest heights that weeners are many dramas produced on the stage or seven is at present such a combination of attractive qualities as Fanchon. Haven Cengregational Council—C. E. Hallowe'en Party—Raymond Slater Preston R. F. D. Carsier.

Rev. G. H. Ewing in his morning discourse, Sunday made large reference to the meetings which he attended in New Haven last week. Mr. Ewing said: There is a value in great convocations of Christian people. Speakers came from the west coast of Africa, the large cities of Turkey and India, from different parts of the great expanse of China, the Philippines, the Gilbert and Marshall islands, Japan, Hawaii, cities of California, and of the north, south, east and west of the United States. Eight or ten missionaries from Van Turkey, who had suffered hardship arose on the platform at one of the meetings. Looking into their faces there was no note of discouragement to be seen. They are earnest to return to their work in Turkey as soon as conditions there earnest to return to their work in Turkey as soon as conditions there are soon as conditions there have the starting of the work practicable.

Norwood, a very small Micronesian island, has been wholly Christianized by one missionary locating there. One of the meeting spoke in fluent English. Among the references to addresses heard was that of Dean Brown of Yale who said, "We are met at a great crisis in the history of our race. less dramatic power, in her sympathy-compelling rendition of the suffering of the character she impersonates, and in the unconscious simplicity in which she develops her great climax of sac-rifice, Miss Pickford proves beyond the shadow of a doubt her right to the distinction of being the world's most famous motion picture star. Supported by an exceptionally chosen company, of which Lottle and Jack Pickford, Jack Standing, Russell Bassett, Gertrude Normand and Richard

POPULAR LECTURE.

Alfred Noyes' lecture in Slater hall this evening, which is the supreme event in the literary life of Norwich in several years, is anticipated with keen pleasure. On one of his early trips to the United States the honorary degree of doctor of literature was conferred on Mr. Noyes by Yale university in recognition of his eminent genius. Another eloquent tribute to his ability is the fact that the two volume edition of his collected poems has already had its sixth printing in this country. But Mr. Noyes' charm is not confined to his writings, for as a lecturer he is enjoying great population.

THE CONSCIENCE LIGHT, Supposing that just you and I today, Two pligrims pressing on the world's highway.
Determined that from morning and night
We'd follow steadfastly the Conscience
Light,
Lead where it would—to rapture or dismay—
its track we'd keep, just you and I today?

apposing self-insistent you and I, ust for today should put our wishes Supposing self-insistent you and I.
Just for today should put our wishes
hy.
And do the filing that's straight and true and clean.
Leaving untouched the harmful and the mean?
The world might be a different place
tonight.
If you and I obeyed the Conscience
Light!

THE FAULT-PINDER.

One neighbor, he denounces.
Because he loves his pair,
And squanders all his money
Upon his little self;
He ridicules another,
In merciless degree,
Because of benefactions,
Munificent and free.

He has no use for churches;
They are a moiley crew;
Old hypocrites in pienty,
Saints wonderfully few.
He slanders all the preachers,
And calls their sermons rot,
And says the whole caboodle

ls going into pot. He damns the state and country,
The cammon herd are fools,
Condemns the high officials
As corporation tools:
The people no more govern
The nation or the state;
The grafter is the ruler,
The thier the potentate.

He censures the Creator
For how the world is made;
Why through the long, long ages
Millennium is delayed.
This cynic often wonders
What can Jehovah mean,
That he is not appointed
To run the whole machine.
Chanute, Kas.
